Business Redesign - Isaias Gonzalez

Overall designing our website flowed very well and didn't run into too many problems. This had a lot to do with my partners and how well we all worked together. Isaias was probably the anchor of our group, finding the website for us to redesign, helping our menu laptop figma, and most importantly implementing our JSON and Javascript.

Isaias was who originally suggested we do Don Luis as our website and already had plenty of ideas on how to change the website to be better. Additionally he had also found plenty of unused images within the websites code that we could use for our redesign. When it came to the figma he had designed the original menu as well as helped convert the laptop designs into tablet. However his most major contribution by far was with the development of the laptop itself, where he came up with the idea as well as implemented functional javascript which would change the menu to certain sections via data from a JSON. This massive undertaking took him days to develop, in no small part due to him writing and transferring the entire Menu by hand into readable data.

Isaias might not have done the flashiest work but he definitely carried a large portion of the assignment using skills in Javascript only he knew. I would be delighted if I got the chance to work with him again.
